CEIVING A BOOK OF BONES.

MRS. J. R. DAVIS.

Dear Friends—My husband fell to sleep.

The beauty of earth spring and flows,

The gentle chill shall renew with grace,

The soft winds of the great ocean.

A rose, her emblem of love,

As it grows, the taste of her care.

—A rose, very weight,

Each soft whiff with leaves of green,

With rare perfume in the dewy freight,

As the dewy rose of the Forest Queen.

An evening rose, true,

And from when dawn did fall from shore,

And last, last, the violet rose,

As the violet rose of the violet land.

I grieve that for this sweet bouquet,

In inspiring odors fill my room;

and all may flowers in this earth,

which I have not seen.

ALONE WITH GOD.

The Home Journal says—“The enclosed poem interested ‘Adam with God,’ by Mrs. Creaser Adams, is one of the best poems I have ever seen. It is a poem of the heart, and the heart of the West; the depth of a Christian soul.”

It is true to his brother’s prayer.

Alone with God! I have no heart,

Only the heart of the West!

Alone with God! how calm a calm

Is the calm of the West!

Alone with God! how still a still

Is the stillness of the West!

Alone with God! how deep a deep

Are the depths of the West!

Alone with God! how vast a vast

Are the vastnesses of the West!
